Description:

Independent Project Records is pleased to present a vinyl edition of Backyards, the beautiful new album from Champaign, Illinois' Lanterna. This 10-song collection is multi-instrumentalist Henry Frayne's most compelling work to date, where he crafts musical landscapes interweaving layers of warm, instrumental sonic tapestries. For Frayne, the inception of Backyards began almost a decade ago and is a culmination of his career as a versatile musician best known for blending genres and bending guitar styles to create layers of airy overtones. Behind most of the songs on the Backyards album is an acoustic guitar part written while sitting outside in the open air with a hummed melody later replaced by echoey guitars. Frayne composed the underlying textures of the record with a heavy influence from the Nashville tuning, the practice of utilizing very light strings to produce an angelic sound. Frayne learned this Nashville tuning from bandmate Brendan Gamble during their time in The Moon Seven Times. "As I've worked on Backyards I was drawn to some old live recordings of The Syndicate, Ack-Ack, Area, and The Moon Seven Times, bands I played with in the past," Frayne explains. Lanterna's music has always been about taking a journey through sound, and there are echoes of these four groups all over this new album.
